Opposition ready on bond election

Action taken by the Canyon School Board Monday night won't satisfy the opposition to the proposed issuance of bonds for construction of new schools, the leader of the opposition said Tuesday.

Stan Collins of Canyon termed the decision by the school board to grant a $3000 tax exemption for homesteads owned by the elderly an effort "to keep senior citizens away from the polls on Feb. 17."

And, he said the decision by the board to work with South Amarillo Developer Emmett Fugua on the de-annexation of about 330 acres of land west of Coulter Road does not address the basic issues which led to the defeat of the bond issue on Dec. 9.

Collins said he will file a statement early next week re-forming his Taxpayers Revolt Committee Against Bonds, an umbrella group which raised and spent about $500 in an effort to defeat the bond issue question on the December ballot.

Schoolboard members set Feb. 17 as the date for another bond issue election, but did not set a price tag on how much the issue will involve. The Dec. 9 election issue was for $6 million.

Collins predicted that unless the school board addresses what he terms the real issues involved in the defeat of the December issue the February election will meet voter disapproval also.

The board's Monday action, he said, "is an obvious attempt to keep the senior citizens away from the polls on Feb. 17, but it's not going to work."

"The issue is just as morally wrong now as it was in December. The issue is not a half-section of land. It is approximately 11 sections of land which some day will have from 10 to 17,000 students on it."

Collins said the real question involved in the bond issue is whether Canyon school district residents should be committed to providing schools for students who will eventually come to live on now undeveloped property south of Amarillo and West of Coulter Road.

"A vote for two schools now is really a vote for 10 schools in the future," he said.

Collins said he would support the proposal of School Board Member Ed Wieck. Wieck handed out a typewritten proposal to board members two weeks ago, but board members have yet to discuss it.

His proposal calls for immediate negotiations with all developers and land owners interested in transferring land from the CISD to the AISD in the area west of the Canyon expressway.

The plan also calls for immediate construction of a new elementary school located in an area not affected by any land transfers.

Then, following those actions, Wieck suggested that a bond issue might be considered at a later date for construction of new high school facilities.

"Let's build Canyon schools but let's build 'em in Canyon," Collins said, "and not spend $4000 per student to do it."

The Amarillo investor said he believes the original $6 million price tag for two schools was far too high. Canyon Junior High, built in 1969, he said, cost about $1400 per student to build and the proposed two new schools would carry a price tag of about $4000 per student.

Collins charged that Wieck has been the only member of the board to come up with a good proposal which might merit voter approval, but that Wieck has been squelched by Supt. Jerry Jacobs, and Board Members Dudley Moore and Tom Keeling.

"I think the school board thinks it's gonna make us buy these schools one way or the other, but it's not going to work," he said.

Collins said the taxpayers and public will not go along with a repeat of the same $6 million proposal.

"They'll have three times harder a time getting it passed this time as they did last time," Collins said.

The bond issue was defeated by a wide margin in Canyon in December while it passed by a wide margin in the north part of the district.

Fed okay required on annexation

Even if the electorate approves the issuance of bonds for school construction in the Canyon District in February the bonds cannot be issued until approval is gained from the U.S. Department of Justice on a change in the district's boundary lines.

That's the opinion of a Dallas bond attorney who has handled the Canyon district bond issue project.

Elbert Morrow said Tuesday the district must report to the Justice Department the boundary change affected recently by the transfer of 160 acres of development land in the Glendale subdivision from Canyon to Amarillo.

The Justice Department must consider the boundary change and certify that it will not initiate litigation against the district due to the change before the bonds can be sold, Morrow said.

Under the Voting Rights Act of 1975, he said, the Justice Department has the power to review all boundary changes or any changes in a governmental unit's boundaries or voting procedures to check for possible discriminatory actions.

Any boundary changes or voting procedure changes affected in the Canyon district since 1972 must also be submitted to the district.

The automatic mechanism at the city water department's new drive-in window was out of service on its first week in use due to a bad case of indigestion of lost water bills and small change.

All that could go wrong did at city hall Monday

Maybe it was because it was Monday morning, but things were not going smoothly at the city water department's new drive-in window.

By ten that morning, two motorists had entered the drive-in window, but one driver had stopped briefly, looked at the automatic window console in confusion and left, one customer had walked up to the drive-in window and one person had somehow inserted her money and bill in the wrong slot and had lost both items somewhere in the machinery.

Water department employees were shaking their heads and looking for the telephone number of the repairman to come extract the lost bill.

This week, shortly after water bills were mailed out, has brought the most customers to the water department since city offices were moved to the Civic Complex.

"Probably not even a fourth of the water customers are using the drive-in window so far," said Mist Wilson.

One of the biggest problems, she said, has been motorists who don't press the service button on the console to alert workers inside the building.

Unlike most of the bank drive-in windows, where a teller extends a drawer to the car window, the city system carries the payment and bills into the civic complex through a pneumatic tube to the water department. The clerks can supervise the transaction through a plate glass window and can communicate to motorists through the speaker system in the pneumatic console.

Mrs. Wilson said she had tried to leave the drawer to the console inside the building, which automatically activates the "please wait" light on the console, but that hasn't helped.

By mid-morning, she had handled a sign and had taped it to the console, asking motorists to please ring the service button.

Another problem has been motorists entering the wrong way. Already that morning, two had driven in from 3rd Avenue instead of coming from 16th Street, said Marva Dik. There are no signs to direct traffic.

Some residents are approaching the window with caution. One man called ahead to ask how to operate the console and from which street to enter. A woman who parked her car and came in the building to pay her water bill inquired about the drive-in window and said she would use it next time. Other inquiries have been numerous.

And one customer lost both her bill and her check to mechanization. Instructed by water clerk Lola Caraway to insert her envelope in the slot, the customer apparently placed the bill and payment between the drawer door and the cabinet to the console. At any rate, an empty drawer arrived in the water department.

London cinematographer to be chamber speaker

A London cinematographer and writer, who is to film a special on Texas this spring, will be keynote speaker at the annual Canyon Chamber of Commerce banquet on Feb. 3 at the West Texas State University cafeteria.

Chamber directors announced the speaker, Geoffrey Bryson, during a Monday night board meeting.

They also selected behind closed doors Canyon's 1975 Citizen of the Year. The honoree will be announced and honored at the banquet.

Bryson, who is in charge of documentary programs for the British Broadcasting Company, is to be in Texas in February to produce a one-hour special television program on the state.

He has produced more than 250 documentaries during his 20 years with the BBC and has won every major award offered in his country for excellence in radio and television production. He has also appeared on both BBC radio and television as a host of several popular program series.

Bryson writes most of his productions and is a frequent contributor to the British humor magazine, Punch. He is author of several books.

In 1962, Bryson was the first foreigner ever invited to lecture at the University of Moscow where he chaired a class on cinematography.

He is father of three sets of twins and two other children. Chamber directors began Tuesday selling banquet tickets for the annual affair. Tickets are $6 each.

The banquet, which will begin at 7:30 p.m., will feature roast beef, baked potato and other trimmings.

In other business Monday night, directors discussed at length the possibility of hiking dues for membership in the chamber, but took no action on any proposal.

Several board members suggested the business minimum dues should be raised from the current $60 level to $100 per year. New Chamber President Don Johnston noted that dues to the chamber account for only about $10,000 of the funds available for funding chamber activities during the year.

"You can't run a chamber of commerce on the budget we have," he said.

Chamber Manager Roland Black noted that many local businesses are not even members of the chamber and some directors suggested the possibility of beginning a membership drive.

Black and Director Bill Hunter suggested that before local businesses and individuals are asked to increase their dues to the chamber, the chamber board come up with programs which would merit the increase.

Black said several thousand dollars will be needed this year to replace Texas state flags which are flown throughout the summer in business areas to bring recognition to the annual summer production of "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon, and for new

Funds asked for project

Lake may get well water help

Buffalo Lake won't have to depend on the whimsy of the weather for water if a plan prepared by Refuge Manager Paul Ferguson is funded for implementation.

Ferguson said Monday he will ask the federal Department of the Interior for funds to dig a deep water well at the south end of the lake to provide a continuous water supply to carry on the refuge's waterfowl management and maintenance program.

He was preparing the fund request this week for the well and for other additional facilities at the lake, which has been plagued for years by a lack of water run-in and by pollution.

Ferguson said he hopes a new well, which would be drilled to tap the Santa Rosa formation, will provide enough water to keep about 250 to 300 acre feet of water in the sound end of the lake, which now contains only a few acre feet.

A well which would produce about 100 gallons per minute would be adequate, he said, and its output could be coupled with an existing well which now produces about 90 gallons per minute at the sound end of the lake.

While the refuge has several wells, Ferguson said, none have ever been used to supplement the little rainfall the lake area receives each year to maintain a constant amount of water in the lake.

Ferguson anticipates the cost of the well will be more than $5000 or $6000 and he expects to ask for around $10,000 for the total improvement package he desires.

The idea of using Santa Rosa water, pumped to the surface by a deep well, was considered by a citizens committee studying solutions to the water problems of Buffalo Lake two years ago. But the committee rejected the suggestion of using wells at the south end of the lake because the Santa Rosa water bearing sands

Near-freezing weather didn't stop Canyon High School students Tuesday as they went to work on the stage backdrop to prepare it for the "Hello, Dolly" production set Feb. 19-21.

More than 200 animals readied for 28th annual stock show

More than 100 Randall County students will show more than 200 animals for prizes and then put their animals up for sale to the highest bidder at the 28th Annual Randall County Junior Livestock Show Saturday.

The J.O. Parker Memorial Building is site for the show. Just over 100 4-H Club members in the county have already signed up to show 90 lambs, almost 60 hogs, four beef heifers, nine steers and five breeding ewes.

In addition, high school age Future Farmers of America will also have animals in the show.

The sifting of all livestock in the fat classes for the show will be among the most dramatic moments of the show for prospective exhibitors.

Official graders of livestock from state and federal marketing services in Amarillo will do the sifting shortly after 5 p.m. Friday after all livestock has been officially weighed in.

County Agent John Brazzil said sifting involves the evaluation of each animal to be judged and sold to ensure that the animals are of suitable quality and finish to meet slaughter grade requirements.

Animals not meeting the requirements of good breeding, type conformation, proper feeding and grooming will not be shown or cannot sell, Brazzil said.

Following the sifting Friday evening, the exhibitors are expected to spend much of the night grooming their animals for the show on Saturday.

The day will begin at 6:30 a.m. with a breakfast of bacon, eggs and biscuits sponsored annually by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

The breakfast, for exhibitors and their families, will end at 7:30 a.m. at the Canyon Community Center.

Judging of swine will begin at 9 a.m. at the Parker Memorial Building, followed by classes of breeding sheep at 11:30 a.m. The lamb show will start at 1 p.m., the steer show at 3 p.m. and the beef heifer show at 3:30 p.m.

Bob Skaggs of Pampa and Robert Devin of Dalhart will be the livestock judges for the show. Skaggs, a well-known judge, will judge the steer classes, the beef heifer classes and the market swine classes. Devin, county extension agent for Dallam County,

Special fund only used once

Vandalism problem subsiding

BY LAURIE TELFAIR

Vandalism that had plagued the schools for the last several years appears to have decreased this year and a special vandalism account established to pay for damages has been used only once.

Last year the schools were being damaged at such a rate that a concerned school board considered charging each student a vandalism fee. A separate account was set up to keep track of costs related to vandalism this year but school district budget officer Ronnie Woods said only $24 has been expended so far.

Nearly all of the damage this year has occurred at the high school.

Over the weekend, eight windows in the Vocational Arts building were broken by someone throwing large rocks through the glass. Even the window frames were bent. Assistant principal Leonard Kent estimated the damage to police at $200.

In November, several other windows were broken in the main building and two typewriters were stolen. The typewriters were later found abandoned by the railroad tracks but tools that were stolen in a break-in at the woodworking shop have not been recovered.

At the junior high, Principal Dave Corley reports that the only incident this year has been a few soaped windows.

"I've been real pleased with this year," said Corley. "I hesitate to say it's been the best year, but we really haven't had any trouble."

Corley blamed most of the vandalism in the last three years on a few students.

"Last year we had some trouble in the bathrooms but just one or two students were responsible and they have left the school system."

Several juveniles were arrested last spring in connection with school vandalism.

Some seats in the junior high auditorium have been damaged over the years, Corley said. He estimated about 20 of the 856 have needed repair and none have been replaced.

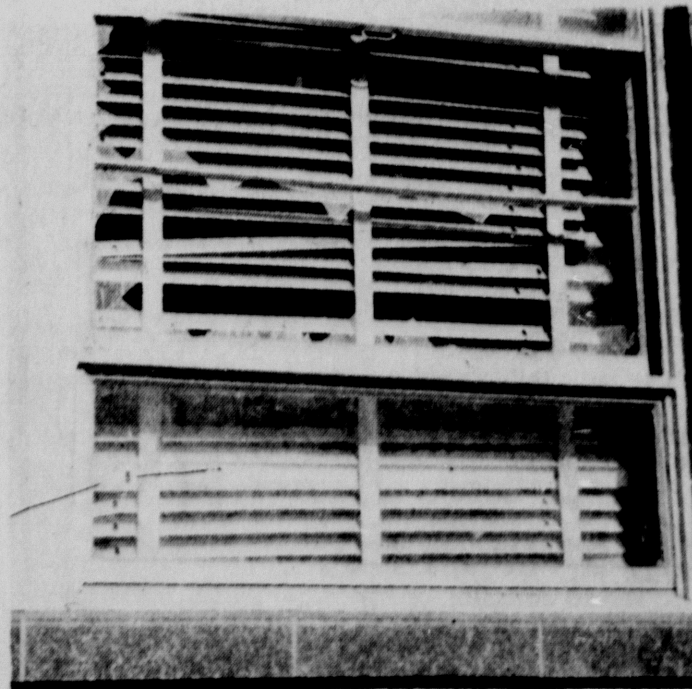

Like high school principal John Sommer, Corley praised his students this year.

"Most kids here in Canyon have been taught to respect property," he said.

"We are still very fortunate in Canyon," said Sommer. "We can't be ostrich-like and bury our heads in the sand about the problem, but I still have a great deal of faith in kids in Canyon. But there is a small minority of students who are capable of doing these things."

Sommer said that aside from broken windows and thefts, the only other vandalism occurred during football season when students wrote slogans on the brick buildings with shoe polish.

"We appealed to the students and that stopped," he said. "I don't think they realize just how Eight windows were broken last Saturday at the high school in the most recent vandalism there.

Pay hikes considered for county's employees

With a salary fund established to allow only a 6 per cent pay hike for all employees, Randall County commissioners sent elected department heads to the drawing boards Monday to suggest what among their employees should be rewarded for laudable work.

Commissioners asked Sheriff Cliff Longest, Dist. Clerk LaQuitta Polvadore, County Clerk LeRoy Hutton, Tax Collector Mrs. Audrey Bruse, and Juvenile Probation Officer Harold Mann to work up two proposed pay hike lists for employees in their respective offices — one reflecting the use of a 6 per cent salary hike pool for each office and the other reflecting the ideal.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher began the discussion of pay hikes for employees, who in the past year have been told to expect no raises or at least no raises above the six per cent level, with a blow at across-the-board pay increases.

"I have commented previous to this year's salary setting meeting that I'm opposed to a 6 per cent across-the-board raise," he said. "I'm still not happy with that type of salary increase."

Fletcher said many county employees do "a fine job," but others, and several in this category are in the road department, are loafing.

An across-the-board hike works to reward the loafers as well as the hard-workers, he said.

He suggested the department heads assess and evaluate the work of their employees and recommend pay raises for those doing an exemplary job.

Fletcher's suggestion, though, ran into some initial opposition from Commissioner Dee Griffin who has for several months advocated not only an across-the-board pay hike for employees but a higher-than-average raise for those employees making below $600 per month.

Griffin urged that commissioners consider the rise in the cost-of-living index, which he said has gone up by about 12 per cent in 1974 and about 10 per cent in 1975.

If 6 per cent across-the-board hikes are given, he said, county employees will still be taking home less money in terms of buying power than they did in 1973.

With salary increases passed in 1975, which amounted to 6 per cent across-the-board, Griffin said over the two-year period persons making $500 per month would lose more than $200 per year in purchasing power due to inflation.

Griffin urged that the department heads report on those employees who should receive exceptional pay hikes and those employees who aren't doing their jobs and who could be eliminated.

Finally, commissioners agreed that department heads should compile a list of employees who should receive exceptional pay raises and those who should receive only minor adjustments, along with a listing of what they believe should be adequate pay for their employees.

The reports, they said, should be submitted as soon as possible.

Commissioners indicated they will review the reports at their next Monday session, with the possibility that they will go into executive session to discuss individual employees and employee output with department heads.

In other business, commissioners approved the extension of their workmen's compensation insurance program with a private firm rather than with the Texas Association of Counties. The TAC, County Judge Woody Pond said, could not insure Canyon volunteer firemen while on duty in the county, under the program.

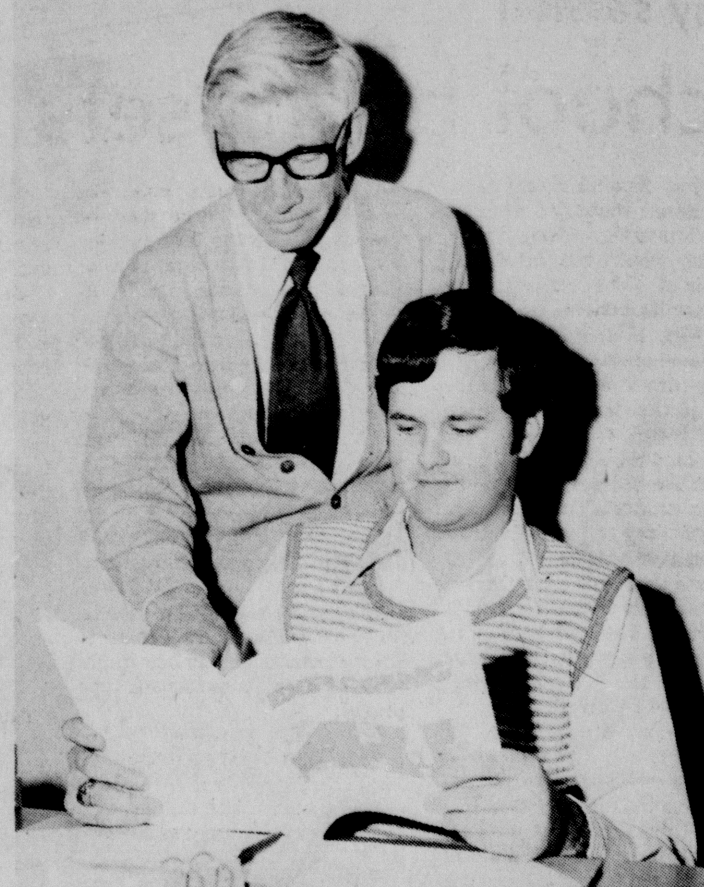

The firemen were added to the county program, which is handled by Agent George Blackwell. County elected officials were also added to the program.

Commissioners also approved the purchase of a used motor grader at a cost of $24,000. The grader would cost new about $70,000, County Road Supt. Joe West said. The grader will be purchased from the West Texas Equipment Co.

Commissioners set 10 a.m. Feb. 10 as the date and time for the auction of the county courthouse annex building in South Amarillo. Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson will be auctioneer.

Commissioners sent Cliff McMurry, developer of McMurry Acres, to the City of Amarillo planning office for more information in regard to a request from him that the county construct several roads in his development north of McCormick Road and east of the Canyon Expressway.

McMurry was told the county would not pay for the roads and would not maintain the roads unless they met county standards.

Paul Sammons, a recent graduate of Texas Tech, started work the first of January as assistant county agent for Randall County. Sammons got acquainted early on with the work he'll be doing with county young people through the various 4-H programs under the supervision of County Agent John Brazzil, standing.

Weather modification's rainfall effect object of commissioner's resolution

County commissioners Monday again passed a resolution opposing weather modification activities which might affect rainfall in Randall County.

The resolution also calls on the Texas Water Development Board to study the use of cloud-seeding to determine whether weather modification activities do what they are purported to do or whether the activities hamper rainfall.

Walter Graham, a South Randall County Hereford breeder, asked commissioners to pass the resolution, one almost identical to another commissioners approved last spring.

The Monday resolution calls for a halt to weather modification activities which might affect rainfall amounts in Randall County and is specifically directed at the proposed issuance of a permit by the TWDB to the Plains Weather Improvement Association of Hale County to modify the weather for four years.

Commissioners in Briscoe, Castro and Swisher Counties will also be asked to pass similar resolutions.

Graham and other South Randall County farmers and ranchers contend the use of cloud-seeding techniques on the South Plains halts rainfall in the county.

"We haven't had enough moisture in four years to plant maize and get it up," Graham told commissioners. "There's no way to prove it, but I know what they're doing. I honestly believe that's why Buffalo Lake is dry, too."

"There's no question in my mind," responded Commissioner Paul Lindsey, who owns and farms property south of Canyon.

"If they get a permit for four more years, we'll just have to move out," Graham said.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi suggested the commissioners back a two-year study of weather modification activities but backed off his proposal when he was told several studies in recent years had come up with inconclusive data on the effects of cloud-seeding both on reduction of hail and rain.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher introduced a motion that a resolution be passed opposing issuance of the permit and that the TWDB pursue a study on the actual effects of cloud-seeding.

The Plains Weather Improvement Association has asked the water development board for a four-year permit to modify weather in a multi-county target area just south of Randall County. The association received a permit last spring for weather modification activities in the area through November.

At that time, Randall County farmers and commissioners were unsuccessful in an effort to halt the issuance of the permit.

Graham and others are now circulating petitions among Randall County and South Plains farmers to force the TWDB to hold a public hearing on the permit request somewhere in the Panhandle.

Nolon Henson, another cattleman, said last week he hopes to obtain enough signatures to call two public hearings in the area. He said another weather modification association has applied for a four-year permit, also.

A three-cent stamp Hot item at post office

Business is booming at the post office these days but Canyon's postmaster wouldn't be surprised to see a slump soon.

"We've had a tremendous volume of buyers of three-cent stamps," said Postmaster Lee Roy Moreland. "People have been buying the three to go with their ten-cent ones."

"But it's probably just temporary. People will use those up and then they are likely to start walking, (to hand deliver local mail)," he predicted.

Moreland said there have been long lines at the post office since Dec. 31 and postal employees have had difficulty in keeping enough stamps on hand to meet the demand.

A price increase on stamps from ten cents to 13 cents which was blocked by a federal judge on Dec. 16 was allowed to go into effect last week, apparently catching many Canyon residents with plenty of ten-cent stamps on hand.

"We've been out of certain denominations and have had a hard time making them up," he said. "Especially ones and threes."

But a new shipment was due in Tuesday and Moreland said he expected to be able to supply enough stamps.

Despite reports from around the country that use of the parcel post is down, Moreland said the holiday mail in Canyon was about normal for the season.

"There was a rate increase in September and the revenue during Christmas wasn't as much as it might of been but it seemed like about the same number of parcels as usual," he said.

While stamp rates went up last week, several other rate increases that had been scheduled to go into effect also are awaiting the outcome of a court ruling.

Driver's estate faces second civil suit

A second civil suit, this one initiated by the Canyon School District, has been filed against the estate of the driver of a vehicle which collided in February 1974 with a district school bus.

The CISD filed suit Friday against Betty Ann Meier, independent executrix of the James Monroe Estate. The suit seeks nearly $5,000 alleged in damages to the school bus.

Reed was killed in the two-vehicle accident which occurred just before school on Feb. 20, 1974, about 2 miles north of Canyon on the Canyon Expressway.

The CISD alleges in its original petition that it was owner of a school bus which collided with Reed, who the suit alleges, was driving on the wrong side of the access road of the expressway.

The accident, the petition says, was caused "solely by the negligence of James Monroe Reed."

The CISD alleges the school bus had a market value of $3794 before the wreck and a market value of $206 following the wreck.

The district seeks $4928 in damages, which includes the value of the bus, $35 per day for loss of the bus, and $185 needed to locate a replacement bus.

Earlier in the year, Johnny Hanson, father of Polly Hanson, a CISD student, filed suit against the estate seeking reward of $33,500 in damages he alleges his daughter incurred in the bus-car wreck.

That suit has not yet been considered in court.

Banks post growth

Canyon banks posted record deposits as the year 1975 ended and attributed the hike in deposits to growth in the county area.

David West, executive vice president of the First National Bank, said 1975 was a good year for agriculture and business in the city and that is reflected in the bank's deposit growth rate.

The bank hit a record of $32 million in deposits by year's end.

West said in addition to a good agricultural and business year, the bank's deposits have been boosted by the better-than-usual legislative appropriation to West Texas State University, the monies for which have been deposited in area banks.

David Levens, president of West Texas State Bank, which posted deposits at the end of the year of $7.6 million, said the growth in deposits simply reflected the growth of the whole Canyon community.

Deposit and loan figures for both banks during 1975 are as follows:

Pioneering celebration planned for Spring
Pioneer Days will be presented in a panorama of historic window displays during May as a part of Canyon's contribution to the nation's Bicentennial activities.
The pioneering display will feature display windows in various businesses around the square on May 13, 14 and 15, according to Pioneer Display Committee chairman, Mary Alice Hines.
The committee which is planning the Pioneer Exhibition is a subcommittee of the county Bicentennial Committee and has received excellent response from families here with local historic backgrounds. Plans call for each of the families participating to use heirloom items in the window displays which will be set up on May 13.
The public will be able to view the historic pioneering displays through May 15 in local business windows. Family windows are being planned at present for the S.V. Wirt family, the Clarence Thompson family, the Nick Thompson family, the Ed Harrell family, the B.C. Taylor, Sr. family, the C.R. Burrows family, the Clyde Warwick family, the J.M. Craig family, the Sam Bellah family, the T.V. Slack family, and the family of Dr. J.M. Black.
Other families with pioneering heritage in Randall County who are interested in the window display project may contact Mrs. Hines at 655-9978 for information on the project.
A highlight of the Pioneering Days project will be held on Saturday, May 15, as local clubs and organizations have been invited to join the festivities with sales booths featuring lemonade, cookies, cupcakes, home remedies, etc. Clubs and organizations desiring to participate in this phase of the event may contact Kathy Glazener, 655-2480, for information.
On the general planning committee with Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Glazener are Jane Stephens, who heads the festival committee of the county bi-centennial effort, Steve McCullough and Rolf von Merveldt, who are in charge of contacting businesses, and Dorothy Carruth, Mary Ann Keeling and Lorraine Bonds, who are handling the contact of pioneering families.
Work will also begin soon on plans for the summer celebration for 1976, according to Mrs. Stephens, Festival chairman of the Canyon-Randall County Bi-Centennial Committee.

School board sets new bond election date for Feb. 19

Canyon School Board members granted Monday night a tax exemption to the elderly, indicated they would not hinder the transfer of 330 acres of land to the Amarillo School District, and set a Feb. 17 date for another bond issue election.

They also heard a lengthy defense of the school board and school board policies by Supt. Jerry Jacobs, decided in principle to hike the percent of valuation on property taxes for next year, and spent over two hours in an executive session.

Jacobs told board members he would suggest they set a bond issue election date but hold off on naming a figure for the exact amount of the issue until more study could be given.

But, before the meeting was over, Jacobs, President Tom Keeling and Board Member Dudley Moore had hinted that they believe the $6 million bond issue figure defeated at the polls on Dec. 9 for construction of two new schools is the figure that will be put on the ballot on Feb. 17.

Bond Consultant Bob Davis urged the board to set a date in the not-too-distant future because of a favorable market for the sale of the bonds.

Board Members Ed Wieck and R.B. Richardson questioned whether the board could work out another bond issue construction project within the time remaining before all facts must be turned over to Dallas bond attorneys to prepare the formal election order. That must be accomplished shortly before the end of January, according to Davis.

"With the amount of work going into this and with the answers we've already come up with, practically speaking it won't come up with any different proposal," Keeling said. "The way we did it before is the right way. At this time we will work on it, but practically speaking I don't see how we can change it."

A bond issue election held Dec. 9 to approve issuance of bonds for $6 million to build a new elementary school and a new high school failed to pass voter approval.

Moore also indicated he believes the proposal put to the electorate in December is adequate. "Let's get on with it," he said. "I think we've done enough work on it."

Before setting the bond election date, the board dealt with the granting of a $3000 exemption on homesteads owned by persons over 65 years of age and the request by South Amarillo Developer Emmitt Fuqua of Quien Sabe Investment Co. that 330 acres of land west of Coulter Road and south of the Amarillo school district be detached from the CISD and annexed by the AISD.

Jacob's presented the annexation possibility, but indicated a reluctance to go along with Fuqua's request.

He implied that the 330-acre tract might provide enough tax income to the CISD to pay for the education of its children.

"I'm still feeling it's a pretty good asset because I don't believe the Amarillo school board is trying to do us a favor," he said of the offer by the Amarillo board to take the land. "I don't believe people in business and government are so good and neighborly to take on a liability just to help their neighbors."

After board members approved a motion by Richard Pruett that they be agreeable to Fuqua's petition, in exchange for a payment by Fuqua of $100,000 to the CISD, Jacobs warned that legal questions still must be answered about the de-annexation of the territory and that the motion would be contingent on the de-annexation having no impact on the upcoming bond election.

Harold Erwin moved that the board grant a $3000 tax exemption to the elderly and no discussion followed. But, Moore, Pruett and R.B. Richardson voted against the motion while Ed Wieck, Walter Graham and Erwin voted for it. Keeling cast his vote in favor of the motion to break the tie.

Board members were told by Jacobs that the district can expect to have to raise about $200,000 in additional local tax money for next school year due to legislative changes, inflation and attorney general's rulings.

He suggested the board agree to a plan whereby the tax assessor would simply hike the percent of assessment from the current 40 per cent level to a higher level to come up with the money.

No specific percentage level was given, but the board agreed to the plan and to the proposition that the tax assessor begin work immediately updating the CISD assessment formulas to reflect 1975 market values on property.

The board generally agreed that elementary school boundary lines should be altered this spring to accommodate more children at Rex Reeves Elementary School and lessen the overcrowding at Gene Howe Elementary School somewhat.

They also generally agreed that the Canyon High School vocational building trades class should begin work on construction of two new portable classrooms for use on the CHS campus next fall.

In the middle of the board meeting, Jacobs defended in a lengthy presentation the school board and its actions in recent months.

He said the board should probably re-evaluate the possible addition of school facilities at the CHS campus as opposed to constructing a new high school, but was pessimistic about the possibility.

Following the regular session, the board went into executive session to discuss acquiring an elementary school site.

City okays hike in landfill rates

City residents can take their trash to the landfill and dump for free but for others, the cost of dumping has gone up.

The city commissioners Monday night raised the fees for use of the public dumping area at the landfill and eliminated exemptions for the public schools, West Texas State University and the Texas Highway Department.

But they granted exemptions to city residents hauling household trash and to Randall County.

For others, the rates were upped from the present minimum of 50 cents to $1.80 for pickups or trailers holding less than two cubic yards. The maximum rate for vehicles hauling more than 30 cubic yards was raised to $20.

In their first meeting in the chambers at the civic complex, the board also filled several vacancies on city boards. The appointments had been discussed in an executive session following the last meeting.

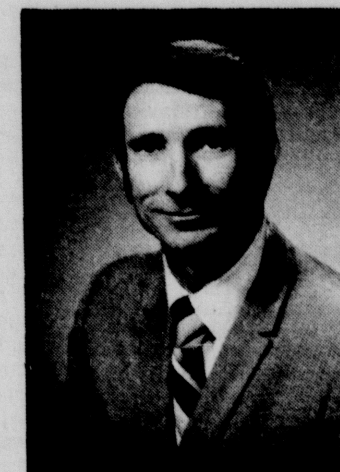

Dr. Ted Freidell was appointed to the library board in the place of J.B. Roberts, whose term had expired and George Ritter was named to the planning and zoning commission to take the position of M.B. Sims, who declined reappointment.

Reappointments were made on the remainder of the boards. Jack Jones and Terry Pittman were appointed to the Canyon Housing Authority and Cecil O'Donnald, Harold Hagemier and Scott Downing were renamed to the electrical board.

City health officer, Dr. J.E. Low was reappointed and Clarence Thompson and Ken Olsen were named to three-year terms on the planning and zoning commission.

The only other action taken at the meeting Monday was to give final approval to plats for Westgate addition and Hunsley Hills unit six.

Funeral rites held Wednesday for Ella Maude Winstead, 90

Funeral services for Ella Maude Winstead, 90, were conducted Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 7, at the Schooler-Gordon Funeral Chapel in Canyon.

A Canyon resident for 65 years, Mrs. Winstead died January 4 at a local hospital in Roy, Utah. She had been making her home at Roy, Utah for the past four years with her daughter, Mrs. Stanford (Polly) Cook and family.

She was born November 26, 1885 at New Cambria, Missouri and was married to Posey Virgil Winstead on October 20, 1906 at Hereford. He died May 10, 1963. A daughter, Mrs. J.C. (Josephine) Duke preceded her mother in death January 4, 1973.

Mrs. Winstead was a member of the First Christian Church of Canyon. She came to Texas in 1903 and had worked with the Hereford Brand and handset type for the Canyon News while the late Clyde Warwick, editor and publisher, was involved in World War I.

The family has requested that memorials go to the Canyon Senior Citizens Association. The Winstead family is staying at 2406 9th Avenue, Canyon.

Funeral services on Wednesday were conducted by Dr. Joe Findley, retired minister, and Rev. Terry White, pastor, of the First Christian Church of Canyon. Burial was at Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors of Canyon. Pallbearers included Marion Higdon, Louis G. Henders, Pat Sullivan, W.A. Gus Miller, James Russell and Brad Castleman.

Survivors include the daughter, Mrs. Stanford Cook of Roy, Utah; a brother, Mark Laughery of Denver, Colo.; a sister, Mrs. Jewell Phillips of Billings, Montana; 3 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

Welfare Board, a director and vice president of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, and is now president of the Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association.

Youth charged with marijuana

An Amarillo youth was charged with possession of less than two ounces of marijuana after police stopped him to check for defective equipment on his vehicle.

Michael Ray Sherrill, 18, was arrested Friday after being arrested about 11 p.m. on New Year's Eve in the parking lot of Taylor and Sons Grocery.

A small bag, suspected of containing marijuana, was found at the time of arrest, according to police.

A Canyon resident reported the theft of a CB radio, tape holder and CB antenna from his car sometime during the night of Jan. 1.

Larry Carl Pate of 134 Fiesta Lane told police the radio equipment was stolen while his car was parked on the 2700 block of 10th Avenue.

Entry to the locked vehicle was apparently forced on the passenger side, according to the report. The radio equipment was valued at $200.

Filing deadline April 30 for homestead exemption

Canyon School District residents over the age of 65 should apply for their $3000 homestead tax exemption before April 30, Conway Kuykendall, tax assessor-collector, said Tuesday.

The school board Monday night granted the $3000 exemption to senior citizens in a split 4-3 vote.

Kuykendall said those eligible for the exemption should bring some proof of their age to the district tax office when they apply for the exemption.

The tax office is located in the old Neblett Hospital building. With the passage of an exemption by the school board, all governmental bodies in the county now offer the $3000 exemption to the elderly. The City of Canyon offered the exemption when it was first made optional through state law.

Roadside work begins on highway

Roadside work that will result in improve safety started Tuesday along U.S. Highway 60 between Canyon and Hereford.

All existing trees in hazardous locations beside U.S. 60 from Canyon to Hereford will be replanted at a safer distance from the roadway, said Don D. Day of Canyon, resident engineer with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Some culvert headwalls will be replaced with sloping grates. Protective guard fence will be installed in front of other culvert headwalls difficult it is to remove shoe polish from these brick walls."

Sommer classifies at least one of the thefts this year as vandalism.

"The quality of the things taken was so low," he said. "One typewriter was new but it wasn't expensive and the other was about ready for junk. I really look at these thefts as more vandalism than anything else."

Sommer said the large rocks used to break out the windows in the vocational arts building were similar to the rocks that were used to break window and door panes when the typewriters were stolen.

Sommer said some thought had been given to preventing future breakins and vandalism but that most of the ideas were impractical. The expense of watchmen or more electronic devices would greatly tax the school budget, he pointed out.

The location of the windows in the Vocational Arts building make them a tempting target, Sommer said. A driveway to the rear of the school gives easy access to the glass and the area is poorly lighted.

"Someone can just toss a bottle out of a car and get a window," he said.

However, Sommer said, if vandalism continues, some measures will have to be taken.

Recently, he said, new locks were placed on all the exterior doors to try to limit access to the building.

Despite the damage at the high school this year, the number of incidents reported to Canyon police had dropped sharply. Police records show some 17 complaints of vandalism or burglary at Canyon High School or Canyon Junior High. Most of the incidents occurred last spring at the junior high.

The annual sale of livestock will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the building just before the sale the winners of various awards and trophies will be announced.

The winner of the Wilford Taylor Sr. Memorial College Scholarship will receive $400.

The Farmer Schaeffer Award, presented by the Junior Livestock Association, goes to some adult who has made a major contribution of time, interest and dedication to Randall County youth through the association.

Trophies and awards for special events and classes will be furnished by the Randall County Farm Bureau, the Canyon Kiwanis Club, the American Legion, Walter Cranmer and by Consumers Fuel Association of Canyon.

Internationally acclaimed guitarist, Jorge Morel, will be performing as the next production for the Canyon Community Concert Association.

Morel, who began his study of guitar at age 11 in his native Buenos Aires, will be appearing here on February 1 at 3 p.m. in Canyon Junior High School.

are not easy to find and finding of adequate water might require several test wells.

The committee also felt it could not recommend use of groundwater for supplementing the lake's resources given the shortage of groundwater in the Panhandle area for irrigation and municipal purposes.

In addition to funds for the well, Ferguson will also request funds to complete construction of a second earthen dike which will run across the center of the lake from a cottonwood cove to an area on the west side of the lake.

Construction on the dike, he said, has already begun and is about half completed. It will be 1800 feet in length when finished and will be about 6 feet high.

Ferguson said the dike will allow lake officials to control the movement of water from the south end of the lake, which is now behind another 1800 foot

University to apply for federal money

West Texas State University will "definitely" submit application this year for federal funding for the recruitment and counseling of minority students from the Panhandle.

Dr. T. Paige Carruth, vice president for student affairs, said his office will submit by March 15 a proposal for funding for the two federal programs available through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Carruth said the program is to allow the university personnel to seek out and urge students who might not otherwise attend college in the West Texas area to attend the university. Another facet of the project is to counsel and work with the students after college enrollment.

Financial assistance will also be made available through the program for students unable to afford college entrance.

Carruth said the amount of money which will be required for the program has not yet been figured.

Funding would be for the 1976-77 academic year, he said.

Last year, Carruth said the university would apply for similar funds but he said this week he had received application forms for the program after the filing deadline.

Enrollment figures for the university for the fall term of 1975 indicate the university had 184 black students, 264 students with Spanish surnames, 71 others, 28 students of Oriental heritage and 21 American Indians.

Johnston referred the matter to a committee to be headed by Ken Thompson, who was named second vice president of the board.

Hunter was named third vice president.

The directors approved their year-end financial statement for 1975, a statement which indicates the chamber will carry over a $477 balance into 1976. Expenditures for the year totalled $26,082. Only $9000 of the income for the year came from dues.

In addition, the directors have set aside $1600 to finance a new issue of commemorative coins for the bicentennial year and $1000 for the purchase of beef for a barbecue for the annual Fourth of July celebration this year.

partment and the pneumatic mechanism developed an asthmatic rattle.

A half-four later, the machine succumbed. Water department employees said some coins placed in the drawer must have fallen into the mechanism.

They expected to have the window back in operation soon, perhaps with signs to make operation clearer.

partment for consideration. While the department will not approve the changes, Morrow said, it will certify that it will not initiate litigation on the changes.

The Justice Department has 60 days in which to respond to a report from the district, he said. That would mean, if the electorate approves the proposed bond issue which is to go to the voters on Feb. 17, it would be early March before the bonds could be sold.

Morrow said several other factors could have an impact on the issuance of school bonds in the near future.

He suggested, for example, that if the Canyon School Board is willing to accept a petition for de-annexation of 330 acres to be developed west of Coulter Road and South of Amarillo by Emmett Fuqua of Quien Sabe Investment Co., that the board hold up on accepting the petition until after the bonds are issued.

This would avoid the problem of having possible litigation or a possible school district boundary change hanging over the election and bond issue, he said.

Fuqua told The News Tuesday he would be willing to hold up on his petition for de-annexation from the Canyon district until the time is right.

"There's no sense in getting into a squabble at this point," he said.

Fuqua said he will be presenting a petition for de-annexation.

"At this point, if there is some problem, I'd withdraw the petition until it could be worked out," he said.

Morrow said the appeal by the Amarillo school board of a Dec. 18 decision by the Randall County Board of School Trustees, a decision requiring AISD to pay CISD a five-year assessed fee, will not affect the upcoming bond election or issue.

Morrow said if the appeal refers only to the county board's decision to force Amarillo to pay the Canyon district for revenue lost due to the de-annexation of the 160-acre Glendale division from CISD and annexation to AISD, then the appeal does not amount to litigation which would affect the transfer of the land or the upcoming election and issue.

Canyon School District Attorney Elton Cox said Wednesday the appeal filed by the AISD board refers only to the county board decision on the monetary payment by AISD to the CISD.

Resolutions easy to forget

BY DORIS McKEE
GREETINGS FROM HERE
at Siesta. Sure hope everyone had a great holiday season. Now we find ourselves already a week into the new year, and it passed so quickly one hardly saw it go.
Sure hope any of you that made
New Year's resolutions are having better luck than I am. Boy, oh boy they sure are easy to forget.
Well the kids are back in school now and as usual most of us mothers gave a big sigh of relief.

Strangely enough I found several kids who were nearly as anxious to get us parents out of their hair.

JON, DIANA, CHRISTY and Marty Hoffman had quite a time over the holidays. They went to Elmore, Kansas the week before Christmas and spent several days visiting with Diana's folks, Carlos and Loiese Cantrel.
Diana also enjoyed being able to visit with her sister, Marcie who was home for a few days.

Marcie lives in California and doesn't get home very often. Jon and Diana came home, leaving Christy and Marty at Kiowa, on Christmas day late.
Jon had to work Friday and Saturday, then he and Diana loaded up and went back to Kiowa, Kansas when they spent a few days with Jon's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hoffman. They came home Monday night. While they were in Kansas they also went to Hazleton to visit Diana's grandmother, Faye Diehl.

CALLED EUNICE RINE-HART to see if Santa had been good to her and how things were around their place. She said she and Barney had a nice holiday.
Christmas Eve they went to their daughters, Charlotte and Tom McWilliams, Sr. in Amarillo. On Christmas Day their son, Bobby and their grandson, Michael, came out and ate and spent the day.

TALKED TO FAYE Risner
on Monday. Seems she and Peck spent Christmas at her brother's, Dick and Kass Dodson, in Canyon. She said she and Peck didn't do any celebrating on New Years.

CALLED UP TO the Burgan
household to see if the Christmas joy had arrived, and lo and behold if Kathy didn't answer the telephone. Said she is still just waiting around. Well maybe we'll have something to report by next week.

WAS IN THE beauty shop
last week and Jean was excited, about bowling a 520 series in their mixed couples league the week before. Seems things are going well in her shop. If you find yourself hating to do your hair just pick up the phone and give Jean a call at 355-5313.

JEAN, PHIL AND Teri

Mayfield made a trip to Louisville, Neb. over the Christmas holiday. They went to visit Jean's sister and family, Marjie and Gar Sommey, Jr. Jean said they were able to see a very recent arrival, her great nephew, Thomas Allen Been. He is the son of Larry and Gwen Been. Jean's mother, Earline Dickerson who had been in Neb. several days came home with Jean and Phil.
Before returning home they did go to Elk City, Okla. to see Phil's folks, Skeet and Ruby Mayfield.
They also spent one night with Phil's sister, Pat, and her husband, A.T. Jones, who live on a farm out of Elk City. Jean said it was a very nice trip.

TALKED TO DOROTHY
Robertson on Sunday. She,
Ernie, Roger and Greg made a couple of quick trips over the holidays. They went to Higgins, Texas to see Ernie's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Robertson. They also went to Albuquerque, N.M. to see Dorothy's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Jim McMath.

CALLED CAROLYN BAYS
to see how they spent their holidays. Seems Carolyn's sister and family, Betty and Weldon
Massey, also Carrie Rich,
Carolyn's mother, all of Dallas, were here. Richard Belyeu and family were also here. Richard is Carolyn's brother from Hale Center.

More talk from Siesta

Also learned that Carolyn and her family went to Hale Center to attend the wedding of her niece, Rita Belyeu to Michael Clark. Carolyn said it was a very lovely home wedding.

On New Years, Carolyn and Larry went out to celebrate. It was a double celebration since it was also their anniversary.

LINDA, JAMES AND Christy Grumke had to make the rounds over Christmas. They visited James' mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. George Welch at White Fence Farms Canyon. Then into Amarillo where they saw James' father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Grumke.

Their next stop was Childress, where they had Christmas with Linda's folks, Mr. and Mrs. H.B. Morris, and Linda's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Morris. When Linda and James came home they left daughter, Christy, to spend the week with her grandparents.

MARGIE AND JACK Buckner spent their Christmas holidays in Roscoe, Texas, where they visited Margie's folks, Mr.

and Mrs. A.L. Finley. On New Year's Jack and Margie, went out with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Lee. They ate and then watched the New Year in.

PAUL AND RAYLENE Qualls celebrated the New Year with a group from Amarillo Health Care Center, at the Country Place. Raylene said they had a real good time.

CARL AND LEONA Higginbotham celebrated the New Year by giving a party at the recreation building. Leona said the party consisted of her boss' and the people she works with.

They had a very good time watching the New Year in together.

MY FAMILY HAD company last week. On Monday my mother, Mrs. E.M. Weaver of Lubbock and my nephew, Timmy Weaver of Denver City, Texas came. On Thursday my brother, R. H. Weaver, and Winfred Dollar of Amarillo came out for a short visit.

They brought another nephew, Rodney and left him with us, in exchange for Timmy. Mother stayed until around noon on Friday. On Friday evening late my brother and family stopped by to pick up son Rodney on their way back to Denver City. We enjoyed seeing all of them.

On New Year's eve Royce and I went into Amarillo to the home of Lon and Joan Barnett who were having a party. There were lots of good eats and some very good punch. There were eight couples there, which set up four tables for forty-two. We played twelve games, four hands to a game. The person with the highest score, and the one with the lowest score both received a prize. There was also a prize for bidding and making eighty-four. This prize changed hands quite often throughout the night. We had a very good time.

TALKED TO KATIE Rinne. She and Albert went out to a private party to celebrate the

New Year. She said they had an enjoyable evening. Seems Albert Rinne is really getting with the new room, they are adding to their mobile home. At the rate he is moving now, it won't be long until they can use their new den.

I PERSONALLY WOULD like to thank Mary Jo Smith and Earnestine Harp for coming out to the park last week and registering some of the unregistered park tenants.

RAYLENE QUALLS ENTERED Palo Duro Hospital Monday evening. She had surgery on Tuesday morning. We would like to wish her a very speedy recovery.

THE EIGHTH GRADE boys white basketball team played Plainview on Monday night. Plainview won by a 25 to 36 score. Marty Hoffman plays on this team.

WOULD LIKE TO wish Laura Padgett a happy birthday. She was seven on the 6th of January.

WOULD LIKE TO say congratulations to Billy and Cheri Earles on the birth of a son, born December 29th. He weighed in at 7 lbs., 1 oz. and was 20 inches long. His name is Justin Douglas. Billy and Cheri have one other son, Wesley, who is 2½. Billy, Cheri and Wesley took their new family member to Lefors on New Years eve so the grandparents could get ac-

Firm will open factory to manufacture invention

By LAURIE TELFAIR
A Canyon firm that invented and patented a machine to automatically measure, cut and apply glue to vinyl wall covering will begin manufacturing the applicator here soon.

Lynn Williams said Tuesday that he and L.C. Ruthart have formed Canyon Manufacturing Company to manufacture their invention. The plant will be located in a building that formerly housed Canyon Plastics. Jesse Jones has been named in charge of manufacturing.

Ruthart and Williams received the second patent on their machine in early December.

The electric powered mastic applicator was developed over the last three years by the paint contractors, who needed such a device in their work.

"We needed it on the job and came up with what we needed and it was patentable," explained Williams.

The first applicator was constructed of plywood and was a crude version of the present device, named the Vinotron.

Williams said the Vinotron is the only applicator of its kind in the field. A somewhat similar machine will apply mastic but does not measure or cut the vinyl fabric and is operated manually, he said.

The Vinotron is designed to handle vinyl wall covering rolls up to 54 inches wide and as much as 50 yards long. It will process a nine-foot strip in about 30 seconds, Williams said, compared to about ten minutes to do the work by hand.

Vinotrons are now being used in Houston, Dallas, Atlanta, Baton Rouge and Anchorage, Williams said.

Professional paint contractors have shown a great deal of interest in the applicator, said Williams.

"From the interest that's been shown, we anticipate that this should be quite a venture for us," he said. Several large firms are seeking distribution of the applicator.

Williams said manufacturing should begin soon.

"We're waiting on some parts and then we should be ready to kick it off."

He said he did not know how many employees the plant would need.

Bufs take on Tulsa tonight at Coliseum

A capacity crowd is expected in Amarillo's civic center coliseum tonight when the West Texas State University Buffaloes of Coach Ron Ekker, sporting a 9-1 season mark and bolstered by an 84-78 humiliation last week of ranked Louisville, take on the Tulsa Hurricane in a Missouri Valley Conference match.

The Buffaloes will take the floor against the Oklahomans at 7:30 p.m. before a Ladies Night crowd expected to fill the coliseum's 5000 seats.

Tulsa, with a 4-6 record, is the only MVC team with a losing season mark and started MVC play last Saturday night at home against Southern Illinois. The Hurricane lost that match by a 63-62 margin.

"They are a good ball club," Coach Ekker says of the Tulsa team. "They have a new coach in Jim King, and of course there is a little adjustment there, but I like the things that he is doing. I'm sure they are going to be a tough club because he's putting a lot of emphasis on defense. His offense is fairly controlled, and that will always give any team trouble. We know we are in for a tough game."

Despite Ekker's caution, his team is riding high on a winning crest, the top of which was reached for the season so far last week against 10th ranked Louisville.

The Buffs trailed the Cardinals by 12 with just over 14 minutes left in the game, but fought back to tie the game on a Reggie Ramey 12-foot jump shot with seven seconds remaining.

In the overtime, the Buffs scored the first six points to win with Melvin Jones leading the Buffs with 22 points. Four other players had scores in the double figures.

Eugene Smith is the Buffs' nominee for MVC player of the week honors this week for his outstanding play against Wisconsin-Milwaukee and Louisville. The 6-5 junior from Hobbs, N.M., hit 14 of 19 shots from the field in the two games, including 9 of 11 against UWM, and he came up with six clutch points in the Buffs' second-half drive against the Cardinals.

"Eugene doesn't have the big stats," Ekker said, "but gosh is he playing well! He helps us in so many ways — playing the good team defense, running the offense, and hitting the good shot."

Ramey's ninth rebound against Louisville was the 700th for the big Philadelphian in his career at West Texas State, and put him only 30 behind Steve Davidson for the school record. In scoring, Ramey now stands with a total of 1284, just 122 behind Price Brookfield's record of 1406 set in 1940-42.

Next Thursday night, the Buffs take on Chicago State in another non-conference match.

Windows smashed

Eight windows in the vocational arts building at Canyon High School were broken over the weekend.

City police officer James Farren spotted the broken windows about 4 a.m. Saturday. Large rocks, which Farren said could almost be called boulders, were used to break the windows at the rear of the school. The metal frames were also damaged, according to the police report.

Assistant principal Leonard Kent estimated the damage to the windows at $200.

Kids have ideas on just what happened in 1776

BY LAURIE TELFAIR

All the trappings of the Bicentennial, from trophies to commemorative coins, have caught the fancy of the kindergarten set, but the events of 200 years ago are much less clear to them. A group of youngsters at Rex Reeves was asked about the nation's birthday. They knew about the Bicentennial, they agreed, because they had seen commercials on television. And what happened 200 years ago? "They had a war," said Brett Ellis. "They fought against each other to have the United States." Brett knew about the Revolutionary uniforms too. The red coats were the men with things across their chests, he said, demonstrating an X. "The men in blue coats had that thing too, but they were different."

Shawn Pearson knew something about the Boston Tea Party. "They needed the United States for tea," he declared. "A long time ago," said Terri Jaggard, "when those people were alive, they took the land and built this land."

The youngsters knew all about what could be bought in the name of the Bicentennial. "They have Bicentennial trophies," said Gwen Morgan.

"And they make Bicentennial money," said Sandy Leonard, who said she had a commemorative quarter. "They make flags," said Angela Parks.

"And books," chimed in Janice Garcia. Wynola Brazeal said she didn't know anything about the Bicentennial. The youngster was born in Vietnam and has lived in the United States only a few months. And what will be a good way to celebrate the nation's birthday in July? They had some firm ideas on that. "Eating stuff, just like at Thanksgiving," said Brett.

"Get a new car," said Michael Abbott. "Make trophies and go to the park."

"You can thank them for making this world," Terri said. "We could celebrate the whole wide world," said Michael Hays. "We could go on a trip to celebrate."

"Go on a trip and have a birthday," Angela decided.

Gwen Morgan decided that shooting fireworks would be a good way to celebrate and Janice and Angela suggested making flags.

Terri put in a plug for education. "You could make people go to school and in school they could learn about this man that went for a ride on a horse and went somewhere and said 'make this land into a world' and his name was George Washington."

One thing they all agreed upon. They were tired of hearing about the Bicentennial.

Free clinic for autos planned at CHS Jan. 13

A free auto diagnostic clinic will be held Jan. 13 by students in the Canyon High School auto mechanics course.

Students will check and diagnose these systems and components: lighting system, cooling system, starting and charging system, ignition system, brakes, front suspension, heater and air conditioning system.

An underneath inspection will include the exhaust, U-joints, shocks and any kind of leaks.

Each owner will receive a diagnostic check sheet showing the condition of the systems and components checks. Auto mechanics instructor, Mickey Hathaway, or a mechanic member of the advisory board will go over the check sheet to explain or clarify the findings if needed.

The diagnostic clinic was organized by the students as a community service project and to acquaint the community with the auto mechanics program and facilities.

The clinic will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the auto mechanics shop in the vocational arts building at the high school. Vehicles should be brought to the shop.

Refreshments will be served and persons who don't bring a car to the clinic are invited to visit the facilities and observe the students performing the checks.

Judge says comply on eradication

A Castro County district judge will decide today whether to order the Texas Animal Health Commission to continue to comply with cooperative state and federal brucellosis eradication programs.

Judge J.T. Boyd of Dimmitt will hear a petition from several area farmers and cattlemen, including Randall County's Louis Henders, at 9 a.m. today in 64th district court in Dimmitt.

The petition asks Boyd to issue a permanent injunction forcing the animal health commission to comply with state law on brucellosis eradication programs.

Because Boyd issued a temporary restraining order just after Christmas to force the animal health commission into compliance, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture has postponed the effective date of its federal brucellosis quarantine on Texas from Jan. 5 to Jan. 9, a day following the hearing.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it — and so do its readers.

Library move expected soon

Canyon Public Library is ready to make the move into the new City Hall Complex and will be doing so as soon as the library furnishings are available.

"We hope to move by mid-January," said Mary Huntington, city librarian. Presently the library is observing regular business hours at 505 16th Street. The library is normally open from 1:30 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday.

Despite the recent postage hike, the Canyon Friends of the Library will continue providing the "books by mail" service for shut-ins and aged residents. The postage is provided to ship and return books checked out from the library through the project.

Santa brought lucky folks skiing vacations

BY KAROLYN FARMER
WELL, THE KIDS are finally back in school after their "two month" vacation. (Okay, so it really wasn't two months, but it sure seemed longer than two weeks.)

Christmas at our house was extremely hectic, but otherwise perfect. We were joined for dinner on Christmas Eve by lots of relatives (on my side), and then ate another big dinner on Christmas Day with Kyle's family.

Brenda, Kent and Carl got almost everything they wanted. And my darling husband surprised me with a new sewing machine. (I really think he's trying to encourage me to stay at home and save a little money.)

Our really big family Christmas present began on Christmas Day when we all left for a six day skiing trip. We five, along with Kyla and Kandi Farmer, drove in a rented mobile home to Sipapu where we parked right across from the ski lodge.

Needless to say, the kids tore up the slopes, while I tore up my poor body. They're not only better skiers, but they also don't have as far to fall.

We spent the last day of the trip at Angel Fire, where the snow was better (and the prices were higher). I even managed on this trip to graduate from "petrified" to just "scared to death" as I made my way cautiously down the mountain. Skiing is definitely not a poor man's sport — but we like to do it anyway. And besides, what better things can you buy with your money than precious memories of fun times together as a family.

CHARLIE COX WAS another area resident who enjoyed some skiing fun over the holidays. Charlie is sponsored by a very special man as part of the Big Brothers of America program.

Big Brother, Billy Reynolds and his wife, Rachel, took Charlie with them on a "Winter Wonderland" trip to the Cleveland, Ohio and Minneapolis-St. Paul areas.

Not only did Charlie do some regular skiing, but he also took part in some cross-country and tobogganing.

While Charlie was away, Betty and Toby Cox flew to Denver, Colo. for a few days to visit with Cindy, who is now living in that city.

DR. AND MRS. James B. Jones and family got in lots of variety over recent holidays. The Jones family drove to California where they visited with their son, James B. Jones, Jr. and his family who live in Crestline, near Lake Arrowhead, and their daughter, Margaret, who lives in Los Angeles.

Margaret is a student at Long Beach State University, where she is studying to be an industrial designer. The Jones children, Leisa, Leila, Thea and Neville, enjoyed California for several reasons. Among them were ice skating at Lake Arrowhead, picking citrus fruits at a public orchard and playing on a foggy beach at Santa Barbara.

On their return trip, Dr. Jones, Emily and the children stopped in Albuquerque to visit with Ward, who is a student at the University of New Mexico.

While there, the children all enjoyed some skiing at nearby Sandia.

CLARENCE AND JOHN-ICE Bass, Mike, Jason and Gina drove to Corpus Christi over the holidays. They spent Christmas with Clarence's sister, Mrs. Kathryn Huckabay and family, along with another sister, Mrs. Johnny Tebo, her family, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bass, Sr.

A slight problem developed just before the trip when Gina came down with the chicken pox on the first day of her vacation from school. But Gina made the trip just fine and has now recovered. (And at least any exposure to the disease was "all in the family".)

MELINDA KAYE DEWEY was her family's most special Christmas gift. Melinda Kaye was born on December 25th at High Plains Baptist Hospital. She weighed 4 pounds, 9 ounces at birth.

Jim and Kathy Dewey are Melinda's proud parents. Trey and Kevin are her new brothers.

KAROL HICKS, THE daughter of Johnny and Phyllis, hosted a recent Christmas party for several of her friends. Enjoying a covered dish supper at Karol's home were Becki Anderson, Sue Carlton, Julie McGlasson, Kathi Martis, Alicia Langford, Cindy and Sherry Wilson.

TWANA AND ARLAND Arnett, Michael, Michelle and Melanie spent Christmas in Shamrock visiting with Twana's brother, Johnny Ross, and his family. Also present for the family festivities were Twana's mother, Mrs. Helen Ross, of Amarillo, and another sister, Mrs. Larry L. Moore and family from Allison.

LINDA AND TOMMY Ford were host to several members of their families recently. Visiting the Fords from Vernon was Linda's mother, Mrs. Willie Fouts, along with Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brock, Brad, Tricia and Robbie, also of Vernon. Mrs. Brock is Linda's sister.

Tommy's sisters, Berta and Mary Tom spend several days of the holiday, as did his brother, Johnny, his wife and children.

Pam and Randy.

YVONDA AND LARRY Stokes, Chris and Krystal are one of the newest families to move into our area. The Stokes moved to their new home on Santa Fe Trail last week and are still in the process of "getting settled."

Larry, who is originally from Pampa, is vice president of Wilhite Refrigeration Company. He is the brother of another local resident, Alton Stokes.

Yvonda, a former legal secretary, now works as a typist for a court reporter. She is originally from Spearman and attended Bob Jones University.

Chris is eight years old and Krystal is six. Krystal attends Grace Christian Schools and Chris will be transferring to Coronado, where his mother has been serving on the PTA executive committee.

The Stokes are active members of Amarillo Bible Church, where Yvonda is the church organist. She is also active in Christian Woman's Club and has served as chairman of that organization.

The favorite family activity for the Stokes is camping. Larry is also an avid water skier and has done a lot of scuba diving. Larry and Yvonda are looking forward to their first snow skiing trip sometime this winter.

THE LAMOUNT STREET Project reached a climax just before Christmas when petitions for the widening of that street were turned in to the Amarillo City Commission.

Dr. Nolan Clark, chairman of the PTA appointed committee, reports that signatures were obtained from owners of 56.27% of the property adjacent to Lamount Street.

If all goes well, the proposed widening will be completed by September 1st of this year. Lamount Street will then be a much safer 45 feet wide, with a special area to be marked off for pedestrian and bicycle traffic.

We all owe a big thanks to Dr. Clark and the rest of the committee who have worked so hard and put in so many hours on this project.

Also serving on the committee are Lloyd Block, Larry Cunningham, Harold Knight, Conny Martin and Jan Meier.

STEVE ALLEN BAVOUST spent part of the Christmas holidays visiting with his parents, Steve and Pat, and, of course, David and Kristi.

Steve graduated from law school last spring and is now employed by the Houston law firm of Mandel & Wright.

EDDIE JOE AND Floyd Ashley, John and David, enjoyed a visit from Floyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ashley, over the holidays. The senior Ashleys are from Fort Towson, Oklahoma.

Although their Christmas in Texas wasn't a white one, they went home to Oklahoma to find six inches of snow on the ground there.

FRANCES CANNON, GENE, Martha, Carmen and Richard spent several days recently visiting relatives in Purcell, Oklahoma. Frances' parents weren't among those present though — they had gone to Miami, Fla. to watch OU play in the Orange Bowl.

Laurie Anne McCasland is the newest addition to the family of Anne and Johnny McCasland. Laurie Anne was born December 29th at Northwest Texas Hospital and weighed 8 pounds, 5½ ounces.

ERNESTINE AND BILL Harp and Dena entertained several out-of-town guests over the holidays. Ernestine's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson of Santa Maria, Calif., and her sisters, Mrs. Winona Boyd and Mrs. Victor Shelton of Dallas all enjoyed the family get-together at the Harp's home.

Also home for the family Christmas celebration were Anita and Duane Harp and Diane and Charlie Brown.

KEDRA AND CLAY Sutton went to Plains, Kas. during their vacation from school to spend several days with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sutton.

RAY AND MARIE Barela and Stacy shared their Christmas dinner with 20 relatives from Dallas, Lubbock and Carlsbad. N.M. Marie's parents and sisters were among the holiday visitors.

Ray has just recently been honored with a promotion. He has been serving as assistant personnel director of Amarillo schools and is now principal of Horace Mann Jr. High in Amarillo.

ROYAL YARBROUGH HAS assumed the coaching duties again this year of the 6th grade boys basketball team. Ten boys have signed up so far and they have had several practice sessions, looking forward to the beginning of their season later this week.

KEITH AND JO Shollenbarger, Chris and Connie spent Christmas with Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Risley of Clarendon. They also enjoyed a visit with Jo's sister from Nebraska and her brother from Denver City.

Chris stayed on in Clarendon for the rest of his vacation to help his grandfather with the work on the farm.

Corn production discussed at young farmers meeting

Corn production in the local area will be the topic of Conrad Mullen as he speaks for the Young Farmer's Organization here at 7 p.m. Jan. 15 in the vocational agriculture department of Canyon High School.

At the December meeting of the Young Farmers, Dr. John McNeill, associate professor of animal science and head of the department at West Texas State University, was the speaker. He spoke on research and presented a slide program.

The constitution was passed for full affiliation in the state organization and the local group voted to send delegates to the state convention in Houston on January 16-17.

During the Randall County Junior Livestock Show this week end, the Young Farmers will have a drawing on two sides of beef, two hog halves and a lamb. The drawing will be conducted at 6 p.m. on January 10 and winners may have their meat cut to their specifications. Ticket books are $2 for 5 chances and may be purchased from Bob Gruner, president, or the vocational agriculture teachers: Lee Moore, Ronnie Hargrove and Richard Porter.

Canyon Young Farmer's Organization meets on the third Thursday of each month at the Vocational Agriculture Department of Canyon High School. Membership is open for active, honorary and associate members and programs are devoted to speakers and discussions on various phases of agriculture. Anyone interested in membership in the Young Farmers Organization may contact Bob Gruner, 655-4780, or Lee Moore, 655-7446.

Happy News

By MARY NEAL HENRY
HAPPY COWBELLES
WILL begin 1976 with a membership luncheon in Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Happy, on Wednesday, Jan. 14, at 11 in the morning. Luncheon will be at 12 noon and Glen Starcher, from Texas Cattle Feeders will speak on the Beef Development Task Force.

A lack of understanding has been the chief difficulty with this program. Farmers have had a similar type program with wheat for years. Those who do not wish to participate may file for a return. The same is true in the beef development program. But I can tell you one thing! You won't miss that three-tenths of one per cent nearly as much as you will suffer if you have to survive another year like 1973 or 1974.

JUANITA AND W. T. (Snooks) Robinson have returned to Houston where their address is again: c/o Surrey House Motel, 8330 South Main, Houston, Texas 77025.

They enjoyed being home. Snooks even gained four pounds for which they were grateful. They were also grateful for friends and neighbors and felt as blessed by God's gifts of friends and loved ones as we all do by the greatest gift of all — that one solitary life.

The Robinsons convey this message to you. "We want to say 'thank you' for your heartfelt gifts — the comfort and strength of your prayers, the cheerful messages of your many cards and letters, the joy of hearing your voice on the telephone. These and many other thoughtful deeds and acts of kindness made it much easier to bear the stress and strain of the past weeks away from home.

"Our homecoming was a heart-warming experience as we found our dining table laden with gifts of delicious food — lovely cakes, pies, and cookies; homemade breads and jellies; candy, nuts, and fruit. These 'goodies' with all the other delicious goods you prepared made our holiday meals a tasty treat to share with our children and loved ones. Your 'Santa' stuffed our Christmas stockings with all things beautiful and useful.

"We find no words adequate to express our humble thanks for the abundant 'Love Offering' you have given to us. For a gift such as this we will strive to be worthy and show our appreciation by trying to be to others what you have been to us. Many of you have given anonymously, but you know, and God knows, and we know you care. Thank you, each one, for putting Christ in our Christmas. For you, we pray that the 'Spirit of '76' will fill your days with the Peace that creates goodwill toward men."

HAPPY COWBOYS WON the consolation trophy at the American Legion Basketball Tournament in Amarillo during the holidays. They lost the first game to Canyon JV by a score of 52 to 47 and then beat Samnorwood to win the trophy.

HAPPY COWBOYS BEAT Amherst on Tuesday night at home, without even playing at their best.

Cowgirls lost to the Amherst team.

HAPPY JUNIOR HIGH girls beat Amherst at Happy on Monday evening. Junior High boys lost theirs.

KIDS, INC. is playing ball in Canyon at the Activities Center — four games all at once and at 5, 6, 7 and 8 o'clock. Jan. 12 will be the next games beginning at 5 p.m. and then they will play on Saturday morning beginning Jan. 31.

The Globetrotterettes won on Monday against the Coolies, but lost on Tuesday to the Falcons 24 to 21. Globetrotterettes are coached by Bob Hargrave and Albert Null. The players are Angelique Henry, Gammie Williams, Rani Foster, Melissa Harvey, Patsy Wilhelm, Melissa Null and Rocelia Vandergriff.

The Dynamites, Kim Foster, Teri Patching, Shann McCarley, Tisha Selvidge, Kay Stubblefield, Shelley Peterson and Vicki Todd, coached by Sharon McCarley, won on Monday, but lost Tuesday afternoon by one point to the Wild Bunch.

Carl Sim's Midget Cowboys, Kim Foster, Darren Johnson, Ed Johnson, Shaun Heil, Russell Coombs, James Dowell, Rickey Shaw, Jeff Sims, and Tim, lost their game on Tuesday by one point to the Hawks.

These children never give up and they try. It is always an exciting ball game.

MR. AND MRS. C.R. Hancock recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Carroll and Audra were married on Christmas Day in 1925. Their seven children honored them with a reception on Sunday afternoon, after Christmas, in their own home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hancock lived in the Arney community west of Happy most of their married life and raised their children in the Happy area. Mrs. Hancock was the former Audra Lee Markham and a native of Happy. Mr. Hancock was reared in the Canyon area.

Cattleman to speak for luncheon

Clyde Hancock is the couple's only son. He and his wife June, as well as their daughter, Mary Lou, live in the Happy area. Charlotte and Willard Morris and their Mike live in Littlefield. Both are employed in businesses there.

Billye and George Waldron live in Washington, D.C. George has made a service career for himself. Their boys are George Carroll, Matthew and Gary. Gary is now married and his wife's name is Sheri.

Betty Moore lives in Canyon with her two sons, Douglas and Max. Her daughter, Melony is married and lives in Boston, Mass. They have a son, Pete. This granddaughter and great-grandchild are the only relatives who were unable to attend the anniversary.

Carroll Lee and Keith Waters live in Stratford with their five children, Sheri, Timmie, Karen, Malcolm and Chris. The Waters family are in the process of adding to their home and remodeling.

Delores Hancock lives in Amarillo. Sue and Donnie Lilley and their two girls, Audra and Elizabeth, live in Canyon.

All of these assisted with the 50th celebration. Guests were served from a table covered with a white linen cloth with inlays of crochet that had been done by "Hap's" mother. It is a family heirloom. The white tiered cake trimmed in decorations of gold baby mums centered the table. Guests were served small white cakes and punch or coffee from a silver service.

Another center of attraction was the green Christmas tree decorated with gold medal ornaments each engraved with a name of a member of the family, white velvet bows and gold rope. A big gold "50" and glittering bow stood at the top of the tree and tiny lights accented the decorations. The white felt skirt was monogrammed in gold with "Carroll" and "Audra", with entwined wedding bells signifying "1925" and "1975".

Another gift from the children was a coverlet and dust ruffle. The quilt is ecrú with print borders. Each square is appliqued with a hand print of a different family member and their name and birth date were embroidered therein. It is beautiful and sentimental!

A big surprise of the day for Audra was a cousin, Mrs. Leta Glen of Tulsa, Okla. They had not seen each other in 50 years. Mrs. Glen's son is music director at the Folk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo and was responsible for the reunion.

Other out-of-town guests included Murray and Nona Lee Markham of Amarillo, Melinda and Mike Walker, Mrs. Jerry Mitchell and Candy, Mary Crites, Barbara Olsen, Edna Fortner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hamm, all of Amarillo; Ruby Davis, T.J. and Vivian Meyers, Richmond and Mary Jo Hales, Mrs. Viola Russell, Mrs. Nettie McBroom, all of the Walter Graham family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crowley, Floyd and Bea Tomlinson, Vernon and Mary Harman, Louis Harvey, Martha Goodman, Rae Walters, Ruth Hill, all of Canyon; Dr. and Mrs. Bill Conway and their Laura and Will from Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. Tommy Porter of Ft. Sill, Okla.; Ozetta Whilhelm of Hereford; Rachael Hunter of Dimmitt; Othel and Eudell Burdett of Pampa, Charles and Laell Waters of Stratford, Joann Davis of Austin, Bert and George Hancock of Pampa, and Judy and Darrell Davis of Groom.

The weather was very unfavorable (that is an understatement) that day and the Hancock children were somewhat concerned, but Mrs. Hancock told them that even if nobody came, there were enough of them right there to have a big celebration — the only thing, the grandchildren might have a tummy ache from eating all that cake. But despite the weather, a large group of friends from both near and far dropped by during the afternoon.

We wish Mr. and Mrs. Hancock and their children many more happy years and good family memories.

MR. AND MRS. C.R. Hancock traveled to Pampa on the next Sunday afternoon, to help Hap's brother, George, and his wife, celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary also.

RUTH AIKENS HAD Tommy and his family with her during the holidays. They almost filled a pew at church Sunday morning.

OUR SYMPATHY TO Eula and T.J. Bonds on the loss of T.J.'s sister-in-law in Clovis recently. They were in Clovis to attend those services on Monday of last week.

THE WOMAN'S STUDY Club met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. Willard Middleton served as co-hostess.

Roll call was answered with "A fashion I have enjoyed most." Mrs. A.C. Miller gave the federation report. Mrs. John Butler, introduced Mrs. Gary Culp, Texas A&M Clothing Specialist, who presented a program on "Fashions and Clothing." A question and answer period followed after which Willie presented Bicenennial patterns and styles.

Mrs. Foy Moudy is a new member of the club.

HAPPY CHAPTER OF the Order of the Eastern Star met Tuesday evening for the Fraternal Visit of the Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. Roberta Russell, of Floydada. A dinner preceded the meeting. Worthy Matron, Catherine Miller, was in charge of the meeting.

SOME PEOPLE TRY counting sheep to sleep. I woke myself the other night counting in my sleep. I have been helping inventory at J.J. Lane Mercantile in Wayside... in my "spare time."

I SALUTE ANN Brown on a brilliant editorial in last Sunday's Canyon News. "What Is Happening To Our Country?" If you missed it, your time will be well spent to look it up.

HAVE A GOOD DAY! And the Happy Cowboys play Panhandle in the Civic Center today prior to the WTSU basketball game.

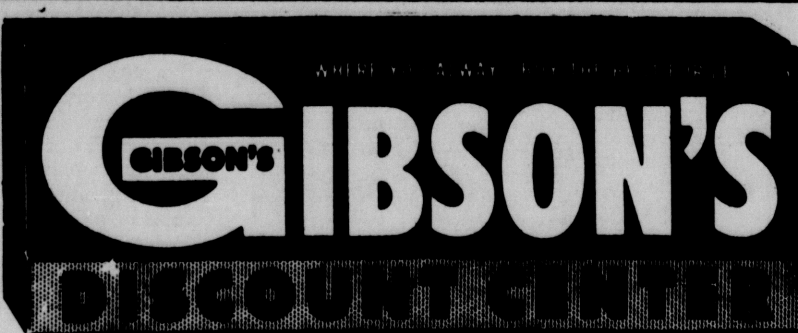

See ya.
